REVOLT IS IMMINENT IN LISBON, PORTUGAL

Students Are Leading Revolutionary Agitation.

CRISIS IN AFFAIRS IS REACHED

Gendarmes Disperse Meeting at Which the "Marseilles" Was Sung, and Many Persons Received Saber Injuries—Austria and Spain Intervene.

London, June 27.—Delayed advices from London dated June 24, say that the students are now leading the revolutionary agitation in the Portuguese capital.

On the evening of that date gendarmes dispersed a meeting at which the "Marseillaise" was sung, and a great many persons received saber wounds.

The confusion of the national situation is increasing. The consensus of conservative opinion in Lisbon is that England should interfere before either revolution or absolutism precipitate a fatal struggle.

Vienna, June 26.—The crisis in Portugal is followed closely here. The contingent chances of Duke Miguel, of Braganza, in the event of a revolution, are watched with the greatest interest. He is now visiting his sister, the archduchess, Marie Theresa, who is a sister-in-law of the Empress Francis Joseph. It is said that Duke Miguel is ready to accept a call from Portugal, but that he is also aware that a change of government there is unlikely to take the form of a change of dynasty. Interest in the situation so far as imperial circles are concerned, probably centers chiefly in the effect which a republican triumph in Portugal would be likely to have in Spain and on the dynasty there.

There are reports that Austria and Spain are both bringing pressure on King Carlos to change his form of government to appease popular indignation with a view to preventing the trouble which they believe would not be confined to the limits of his kingdom.

SCOUT CRUISER LAUNCHED.

Another Addition to the Strength of Uncle Sam's Navy.

Washington, June 27.—The scout cruiser Chester which was launched at the Bath, Me., Iron works on Wednesday, is one of a class of three vessels to be known as scout cruisers authorized by congress April 17, 1904. The cost of the vessel will be $1,688,000.

Its construction is entirely of new type so far as the United States navy is concerned, and it will be the first in which English turbines will be used. The noctract speed calls for 24 knots, and is exceeded only by that of the torpedo boats and destroyers. While the speed is slightly less than that of the English scouts, the difference is more than compensated for by the ability to maintain the high speed in all conditions of weather, and, having twice the coal capacity of the English scouts, the radius of action is consequently very much greater.

The length of the vessel over all is 423 feet and 1-inch. Its breadth measures 48 feet, 6 inches, draft fully loaded, 19 feet, 1½ inches, and displacement fully loaded 4,640 tons.

The battery consists of two 5-inch rapid fire guns, six 3-inch rapid fire guns and two 21-inch submerged torpedo tubes.

Prominent Legislator Shot.

Canton, Miss., June 27.—W. I. McAllister, a former member of the legislature, was fatally shot Tuesday morning by Dr. S. S. Walker. The difficulty grew out of a law suit. McAllister is one of the best known citizens of the state.

40 Cent Paid for First Bale.

New York, June 27.—The first bale of new cotton to arrive at New York was sold at auction in front of the New York cotton exchange. Latham Alexander & Co., were the successful bidders. The purchase price was 40 cents per pound.

FATAL AUTO ACCIDENT.

Yale Upper Class Man Killed and Two Other Students Injured.

New Haven, Conn., June 27.—A frightful automobile accident causing the death of one undergraduate and injuring more or less seriously two other students and a guest, cast gloom over the commencement exercises at Yale university Wednesday.

The victim was D. Lee Oliver, son of James B. Oliver, of Pittsburg, Pa., and a senior in the Sheffield Scientific school, a member of St. Anthony's fraternity and one of the most prominent socially of the upper class men.

The injured are W. Strothers Jones, of Red Bank, N. J., a Sheffield junior, and J. G. Colston, of Baltimore, a senior in the same department and L. Hudson, a commencement guest of the others, all of whom lived at St. Anthonys.

Oliver Prominently Connected.

Pittsburg, June 27—D. Lee Oliver, who was killed in the automobile accident at New Haven, Conn., was a son of the late James B. Oliver, who died one and a half years ago and was one of the prominent steel manufacturers of Pittsburg. He was also a nephew of George T. Oliver, proprietor of the Pittsburg Gazette-Times and Chronicle-Telegraph, of this city. He leaves a mother and two sisters, Mrs. William J. Crittenden, of Shields, and the Marquise Alfred Dusmet, of Naples, Italy. The young man was 21 years of age.

SHOT THROUGH CLOSED DOORS.

Fatal Pistol Duel Between White Man and Negro at Metcalf, Ga.

Thomasville, Ga., June 27.—Neill Lilly, aged 25, a prominent young man of Metcalf, died Tuesday morning as the result of wounds received at a negro cabin 4 miles from that town.

Lilly was accused of complicity in a series of attempts on the life of Mrs. Alice Futch and her two sons, and his death was first thought to be another chapter in this mystery, but the coroner's investigation disapproves this and seems to fix the guilt upon Sam Jackson, a negro, who has made his escape.

Evidence shows that Lilly and the negro exchanged shots through the closed doors of the negro's house.

One bullet struck Lilly in the neck. He was never able to speak again, though he lived several hours. He went to see the negro about some reports the latter had been spreading.

Lilly was very popular among the people of Metcalf, and the negroes there are in a state of alarm. They have left the turpentine camps, fearing violence; but there seems to be no disposition toward anything of this sort by the white people.

Awards for Yale Scholarships.

New Haven, Conn., June 27.—The most important awards for scholarship at Yale university were made public during the commencement exercises Wednesday and in the list were the following: The Cobden club silver medal to Henry F. Walradt, of Whitman, Mass, a senior, for the greatest proficiency in the elements of political science; the James Gordon Bennett prize for the best essay in English prose divided between Roger B. Hull, of Geenfield, Mass., and Robet R. Lockwood, of Zelienopel, Pa., the prize being the income of $1,000; John Adison Porte, prize, income of $3,000, established by the Kingsley Trust association (Skull and Bones) to Chas. Franklin, of Housatonia, Miss., a graduating class in the divinity school.

Bombs Thrown; Many Injured.

Tiflis, Trans-Continental Russia, June 27.—Ten bombs were thrown Wednesday into the Erivan square in the center of the town, which was thronged with people. The missiles exploded with terrific force Many persons were killed or injured, and windows and doors were shattered all over a large area. The police are preventing all approach to the scene of the outrage.

Croker Wins Irish Derby.

Dublin, June 27.—Richard Croker's Orby, winner of the English derby, won the Irish Derby Wednesday. Mr. Croker's Georgetown was second. Seven horses started.

SOLONS OF GEORGIA GATHER FOR BUSINESS

Fifty Days' Session of the State Legislature Begins.

MANY NEW FACES ARE SEEN.

According to Report the Present Session Will Be the Liveliest in the History of the State.—Much Reform Legislation Probable.

Atlanta, June 27.—The legislative machinery of the state of Georgia was set in motion promptly at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning, when Secretary Northen, of the senate, and Clerk Boifeuillet, of the house, swung the gavels, calling both bodies to order.

A fifty-day session was started which, according to the general report, will be the liveliest in the history of the state, prominent in the introduction of bills looking toward reform legislation of all characters.

Early Tuesday morning a large majority of the members of the general assembly had arrived in the city, and were seen at the Kimball house. There were something like 130 faces seen among the arrivals, and it took most of the morning for the representatives and senators to become acquainted.

Clerk and Secretary Busy.

Clerk John Boifeuilett was the most active person among those standing in the lobby. He was constantly being accosted by both old and new members, and it is safe to say that by the time that night fell he was thoroughly acquainted with the 130 members of the house and ready at a moment's notice to call any one of them by their right title. Hon. Charles Northen was kept busy looking after the senators, and by the afternoon had accounted for nearly all of them.

Among the old faces, there could be seen Hon. Joe Hill Hall, of Bibb, one of the most familiar figures in the house. Quite a crowd of friends were crowded around him during the afternoon, so that he was hardly able to attend to his personal business.

Representative McMichael, an old member, was on the floor during most of the day earnestly fighting for the speaker pro tem.'s place. His opponent, Representative Jackson, was also present, and fought with equal vim.

Without a doubt, the next speaker of the house will be the Hon. John Slaton. He has no opposition. With the exception of the race for speaker pro tem. and the doorkeeper's fight everything else is tranquil in the house and in readiness for legislation.

All Mum on Legislation.

One of the marked facts in regard to the advance guard is that very little legislation is talked. Everyone seems to be "mum" on that subject. Evidently something in the direction of reform never before seen in the general assembly is about to sweep over the state in the next fifty days.

There was a great deal of talk among the members of the general assembly regarding new counties. It is claimed that more new counties are mentioned as being in the progress of formation than any legislature heretofore has had to contend with.

Representative McMichael has a very unique bill that he will introduce in the early part of the session, that meets with the general approval of nearly everyone with whom he has discussed it. He desires to introduce a bill requiring all secret societies in the state to give a bond, a sum in the neighborhood of $10,000 This will prevent the formation of fraudulent secret organizations in the state. Representative McMichael desired it stated that h edid not desire to impose a tax on the secret societies, but simply to impose a bond.

Among the prominent things discussed by the representatives was the inaugural services for Governor-elect Smith. A magnificent pageant in the form of a parade has been arranged, together with appropriate fixtures for the inaugural speech.

The farewell message of Governor Joseph M. Terrell, whose administration closes Saturday, was read to both branches of the general assembly. The last communication from the chief executive deals with taxation, finances, agricultural schools, high schools, educational institutions, college endowments, monuments to confederate soldiers, pensions and trained nurse legislation.

Aiken Elected on First Ballot.

Hon. John W. Aiken, of Bartow, was elected president of the senate on the first ballot at the opening session of the upper house.

When the election was entered upon there were only two in the race, Senator Aiken and Snator J. J. Flynt, of Spalding. The roll was called and when Senator Overstreet cast the twentyfourth vote for Senator Akin, giving him a majority and insuring his election, Senator Taylor withdrew the name of Senator Flynt, who had received seven votes, and moved to make the election of Senator Akin unanimous.

The senate was called to order promptly at 10 o'clock by Secretary Northen, and immediately the work of swearing in the members was begun. The election of president followed immediately.

Boy Witness in Shipp Case.

Chattanooga, Tenn., June 27.—Houston Gibson, the 15-year-old son of Night Jailer Gibson, was the star witness Wednesday morning in the hearing of th Shipp case before Commissioner Maher. The boy told a straightforward story, contradicting statements by Ellen Baker, the alleged woman moonshiner, and Joe Franklin, the negro ex-constable. Dr. P. D. Sims, an ex-mayor, S. T. Dewees, a business man and J. H. Cantrell, a prominent lawyer, were the other witnesses heard, all of them speaking in high terms of Sheriff Shipp as a citizen and officer.

Shipmnts of Fruit Increasing.

Macon, Ga., June 27.—Up to date only twenty-eight carloads of fruit have been shipped from Georgia since the season opened, and each day the number grows. Tuesday several cars containing an excellent variety of peaches left for eastern markets and the rain of Monday night will swell the shipments later this week. With better railroads facilities for handling the chop this year the peach growers of central Georgia hope to be able to get their peaches away with but little waste of time.

Lightning Kills Two.

Winterville, Ga., June 27.—Lightning is playing strange freaks in the Cherokee Corner neighborhood the past few days. Monday, while Jerry Carey, an old negro man, was hoeing he was suddenly struck down by lightning and died instantly. The cloud was about 5 miles away, and the sun was shining where he was. This makes the second death from lightning in that neighborhood in the last three days. Both negroes are buried side by side.

Bond Issue Defeated.

Birmingham, Ala., June 27.—Returns from country precincts of Jefferson county received Tuesday were almost unanimous against the $500,000 jail bond issue and the proposition has been lost by something more than 100 votes. It was proposed to build a 10-story jail and criminal court and while the county board has power to act without approval of the voters, plans for the future are undecided. The county jail, with three hundred inmates, has been condemned by state authorities.

More "Tent Trust" Arrests.

Denver, Colo., June 27.—Five other members of the so-called "tent trust," William H. Brooks, B. H. Brooks, Robert S. Gutshall, Alfred A. Proctor and Charles C. Ross, all of Denver, were arrested Tuesday on federal grand jury indictments charged with combining to raise the price of tents to the government. Each gave bond for $2,500.

Governor Vardaman Converted.

Jackson, Miss., June 27.—Governor Vardaman was among the converts at the Cates revival service on Monday night. With twenty-nine other penitents, the governor went to the mourners' bench and repeated after the evangelist the words, "I surrender all to Jesus for salvation and service."

LOVING'S DAUGHTER TELLS JURY OF CRIME

Young Girl Claims That She Was Dishonored by Estes.

WEPT BITTERLY DURING RECITAL

Case of Judge Loving, Charged With the Murder of Theodore Estes, in Virginia, a Rival of the Celebrated Thaw Trial.

Houston, Va., June 27.—Between stifling sobs, with tears streaming from her bright blue eyes, and vainly struggling to control her emotions, Miss Elizabeth Loving, who has occupied the center of the stage in the trial of her father, Judge William G. Loving, for the murder of Theodore Estes, told on the witness stand here Tuesday the story of her alleged ruin at the hands of the young man her parent shot down.

The recital was probably the most dramatic ever heard in a Virginia court of justice, and rivaled, if not surpassed, in point of atrociousness the story told by Evelyn Nesbit Thaw of her experiences with Sanford White. It was the same story, she said, she told to her father on the day of the tragedy. The dead man, she declared, gave her a drink of whisky from a flask in his pocket while they were buggy riding the day prior to the kiling.

After taking the drink she immediately began to feel dizzy and her head whirled as if she had been given some powerful drug. In this condition and despite her protests, she declared that her escort drove her through a road not frequently used and despite her screams outraged her.

Exhausted by the struggle and her mental faculties upset by the stimulant, the witness declared that she recalled nothing more until she regained her senses, in bed, late that night, at the home of County Clerk E. L. Kidd, where she had been visiting.

On the following morning when her father asked her to explain how she came to be brought to the Kidd home in an unconscious and drugged condition, she related to him on bended knees the same story she told on the stand. It was this recital, declared the defense, which so wrought up Judge Loving that he was impelled to hunt up young Estes and take his life.

Whether the story told by the 19-year-old girl can be weakened by the prosecution remains to be seen, and on the disproving of this story hangs the fate of the defendant. The state claims that it can be shown that the crime imputed to the man whose lips are sealed forever was impossible. The rebuttal by the prosecution probably will be the most important, though not the most sensational feature of the case.

Suit Grows Out of Harrell Case.

Macon, Ga., June 27—A suit arising out of the killing of W. P. Harrell of Eastman, by Mrs. Sallie Freeney, last March, was filed in Bibb superior court Tuesday by J. J. Harrell, administrator, against the Providential Insurance company of North Carolina for the recovery of $10,000 on an insurance policy which the dead man carried when he was killed. The policy was for $5,000, and the premium paid was $176 annually, according to claims made by the administrator. The case will be tried at the November term of the court.

Accident on the Big Four.

LaFayette, Ind., June 27.—Big Four northbound passenger train No. 35, was wrecked here Wednesday morning at the Wabash Junction. The engine was derailed and carried the baggage car and day coach with it. Engineer Henry Higgs, of Indianapolis, escaped unhurt, although he was buried in the wreckage of the engine cab. The wheels and trucks of the baggage car were torn off. Baggageman George Decker, of Cincinnati, was injured and Brakeman Charles Williams, of Indianapolis, was cut and bruised. No passengers were hurt.

HAD A BIG TIME.

Colfax Rebekah Lodge Enjoys Fine Watermelon Feast Thursday.

The regular meeting of Colfax Rebekah Lodge No. 2, I. O. O. F., was particularly interesting Thursday evening, as there was a "special number" on the program which interested those present.

At the conclusion of the regular proceedings of the lodge there was a watermelon cutting, which was participated in by a large number, and which it is needless to add was highly enjoyed. As usual, M. B. Saunders was depended upon to do the catering, and it goes without saying that he performed his part of the proceedings in a manner creditable. A function of this kind would be incomplete without the services of Mr. Saunders.

These little social functions are very enjoyable, and add to the interest of the lodge.

FATHER THOUGHT CHILD WOULD DIE

Suffered with Cuban Itch, and Sores Covered Body from Head to Foot —Would Claw Himself and Cry All the Time — Could Not Be Dressed — Mother Advised to Try the Cuticura Remedies.

CURED BY CUTICURA AT EXPENSE OF 75c.

"My little boy in the Spring of 1901, when only an infant of three months, caught the Cuban Itch from one of my neighbor's babies. Sores broke out from his head to the bottom of his feet. He would itch and claw himself and cry all the time. He could not sleep day or night. I had to wheel him in his carriage most all the while to keep him still. He could not bear to have his clothing touch him, and only a light dress is all he could wear. I can't begin to speak in words the suffering the poor child had to endure. I called one of our best doctors to treat him, and he said he had the Cuban Itch, and his treatment did not do any good. He seemed to get worse. He suffered so terribly that my husband said he believed he would have to die. I had almost given up hope when a lady friend told me to try the Cuticura Remedies. She said she cured her little girl's ear, which was nearly eaten up with the eczema. I got a cake of Cuticura Soap and one box Cuticura Ointment, and I washed him all over with the Cuticura Soap and applied the Cuticura Ointment and he at once fell into a sleep, and he slept with ease for the first time since two mohths. When he awoke I applied it again, and it gave him much ease, and after three applications the sores began to dry up and improvement began to show, and in a few days the hide from the bottom of his feet and inside of his hands began to peel off. I only used one cake Cuticura Soap and one box Cuticura Ointment to complete the cure of the dreadful disease, and in just two weeks from the day I commenced to use the Cuticura Remedies my baby was entirely well. The treatment only cost me 75c., and I would have gladly paid $100 if I could not have got it any cheaper. I feel safe in saying that the Cuticura Remedies saved his life. He is now a boy of five years, and is as well as any child you ever saw. Mrs. Zana Miller, Union City, R. R. No. 1, Branch Co., Mich., May 17, 1906."

WETTER NOT GUILTY DECLARED THE JURY

Famous Case From Levy County Has Now Been Settled.

JURY OUT THREE MINUTES

The Case Was One of Great Interest, as It Involved the Right of a Teacher to Chastise a Pupil—Many Witnesses Here from Bronson.

"We, the jury, find the defendant, E. T. Wetter, not guilty; so say we all."

This was the verdict of the jury, of which E. Baird was foreman, in the famous case of the State of Florida vs. E. T. Wetter, charged with assault and battery, in the court of County Judge H. G. Mason Thursday.

This case was a most peculiar one, but a case which makes a trio of similar specifications in this section of the State within the past few years.

Prof. E. T. Wetter, the defendant, was principal of the Bronson High School at Bronson, when he chastised or whipped Ivan Stringer, a pupil about fifteen years of age. At the instigation of the lad's father, W. A. Stringer, Prof. Wetter was arrested upon a charge of assault and battery, the prosecutor alleging that Prof. Wetter had exercised undue violence upon his son.

Upon motion of the attorneys for the defense, who declared that they could not get justice in the courts of Levy county, the defendant was granted a change of venue, throwing the responsibilities to the court of County Judge Mason of Alachua county.

There were a large number of witnesses, among whom were Oliver J. Farmer, editor of The Levy Times-Democrat, W. R. Perryman, W. A. Stringer, P. E. Saunders, R. D. Proctor, W. H. Anderson, tax collector of Levy county, L. W. Buckner and Dixon Phillips, the latter being a pupil of the school at the time of the chastisement.

The trial proved of a great deal of interest, especially at this time, when the summer Normal is in session here, the defendant himself being a student of the Normal. A large crowd was in attendance, about half of whom were students at the Normal, Florida school teachers, who manifested a deep interest in the proceedings. Many of the spectators were ladies.

The switch (a live-oak rod apparently about four feet long and as large as the average person's little finger in diameter) which was alleged to have been used on young Stringer was produced in court, but young Phillips, who testified that he was the lad the defendant had dispatched to get a switch, would not swear that it was the same switch which he brought, as he said he could not remember, having taken "no particular dimensions" of the same. Notwithstanding that young Phillips is but a mere lad, about fifteen, he proved a careful and competent witness, being careful to relate, and relate cautiously, the story as well as he could remember it.

The jury was composed of E. Baird, foreman; J. H. Vidal, A. R. Harper, J. B. Brooks, Wm. A. Avera and Jim B. Dell.

The jury was out only three minutes, returning with the verdict as above stated.

Pinnelle & Son of Bronson and Robt. E. Davis of this city represented the prosecution, while J. A. Williams of Cedar Key and Evans Haile of this city appeared for the defense.

AN ETHIOPIAN GIANT.

Anthony Perry, Twenty-Five Years of Age, Weighs 316 Pounds.

One of the "curiosities" of Alachua county lives in the person of Anthony Perry, a young colored man of Rutledge, who is only twenty-five years of age, and tips the beam at three hundred and sixteen pounds—down weight.

Anthony was in the city Thursday, and attracted a great deal of attention on account of his size. He stands five feet ten, which, with his heavy avoirdupois, makes him look a great deal heavier than he really is. As is usual with fat people, he is possessed of a good disposition, and has never been known to be in a bad humor.

Notwithstanding the extreme heat, Anthony laughs at the little fellows who perspire so freely about him, and tells them in his good-natured way that they ought to "get fat and keep cool."

Perry is probably the heaviest man in Alachua county, if not in the State, but his weight does not seem to trouble him.

WANTS TO DIE FOR BROTHER.

Asks to Take Brother's Place on the Gallows.

Montgomery, Ala., June 27.—John Beeman, a negro preacher, has made application to the jailer to be allowed to die for his brother, David Beeman, on the gallows, the date of execution being July 26.

The preacher says that he will go to heaven and his brother, being a bad man, might not.

His sacrifice would have a tendency to bring his brother to the Master and in the end both would get to heaven. He said that he did not see why the state could not take him, as he would be taking the place of his brother and the law would be satisfied.

The offer of the negro has caused a great wave of sympathy for both him and the condemned man and a large petition is being signed for the governor to commute the sentence to life imprisonment. David Beeman split open the head of his wife because she paid too much attention to another man. He was crazed with jealousy.

They have gone to Brisbane by steamer. The Pyramus is a ship of 2,135 tons. She is 300 feet long and has a beam of 36 feet, 6 inches. She carries eight 4-inch guns and others of smaller caliber, is built of steel and has a 2-inch steel deck. Her speed is 20 knots. She carries a crew of 225 men.

PLAYING CARDS.

Peculiarities of Those Used by the Different Nations.

"One of the most interesting collections of foreign loot that I've seen recently," said a man ordinarily too busy to make the trip over the seas himself, "is an assortment of playing cards from various parts of the world.

"In every country the owner of the collection visited—and he went to a good many—picked up cards of local manufacture and so representative of the nation.

"The Russian cards are perhaps the most elaborate. The faces of the kings and queens are different in each suit, indicating the racial elements that go to compose the empire.

"On the Greek cards classical heroes and heroines are represented. Nestor, for example, is the king of hearts and Orestes the knave. Agamemnon is the king of clubs, Hercules the jack of spades and Minos and Danae the king and queen of diamonds. The Greek pack is rather a cheap one and scarcely does honor to the celebrities portrayed.

"Cadiz is a center for card manufacturing. The idea of the Spanish cardmaker seems to be to get as much color on the cards as possible. The royal robes are of unusual magnificence. The clubs are big bludgeons in green and red, and the knave of clubs, gayly caparisoned on a prancing horse, reminds you instantly of Jack the Giant Killer. The spades are ugly little daggers, and for hearts and diamonds there are disks and dice cups. The cards in some of the Spanish packs are very thin and have a capital spring.

"The Madeira cards come from Lisbon. The figures are more conventional in design than on the Spanish. The ace cards are adorned with typical Portuguese scenes.

"A peculiarity of the pack bought in Constantinople is that the ace cards, in addition to the single spade, diamond, club or heart in the center of each, have diminutive aces at the upper left hand and lower right hand corners.

"The Italian face cards portray decidedly gloomy personages. Each one of the face cards, by the way, carries in small print the name and address of the maker. There are tiny packs, an inch and a quarter by an inch and three-quarters in size, which can be bought on the streets of Naples for a soldo. These resemble the Spanish cards to some extent, although the royalties are more dignified.

"Cairo is a great card emporium, and Mousky street offers rich returns to the card hunter. Fortune telling cards must be in demand there, to judge from the samples I saw in the collection. The Cairo playing cards come mostly from Germany. They are brilliant in their coloring. The aces carry scenes from lands both west and east.

"The gem of all the packs comes from Switzerland. The cards are small, one and three-quarters by two and a half inches in size, and the back design is the edelweiss. The kings, queens and jacks are delightful studies in Swiss costume, and the purchaser certainly gets his money's worth, for each face card has two half figures quite unlike. On the aces are Swiss scenes and objects of interest, also two to a card, the subjects including the castle of Chillon, the Matterhorn, the bridge at Lucerne and the Lion of Lucerne."—Indianapolis Star.

He Paid For the Boots.

According to an old French tale, a number of shoemakers argue the question, Which one of them is the most meekly submissive to his wife? To the one who is least so the host offers to give the best pair of boots in his shop. If any one claims the boots and fails to prove his claim, he must pay double price for them. The boots are claimed by a man who declares that he is not afraid of his wife. The man who offered the prize is somewhat taken aback by the man's confident manner, but he determines not to let his boots go without an attempt to save them. "The boots are stiff, I think," he said. "Take this grease with you to soften them, but put it inside your waistcoat, so that my wife may not see it."

"Oh, no," was the reply, and the grease was hastily pushed away. "No, my wife would be angry if I should grease my waistcoat."

Then the others promptly decided that he must pay double price for the boots.

HEALTH OF WOMEN

In this nineteenth century to keep up with the march of progress every power of woman is strained to its utmost, and the tax upon her physical system is far greater than ever.

In the good old-fashioned days of our grandmothers few drugs were used in medicines. They relied upon roots and herbs to cure weaknesses and disease, and their knowledge of roots and herbs was far greater than that of women today.

It was in this study of roots and herbs that Lydia E. Pinkham, of Lynn, Mass., discovered and gave to the women of the world a remedy more potent and efficacious than any combination of drugs.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

is an honest, tried and true remedy of unquestionable therapeutic value.

This medicine made from native roots and herbs contains no narcotics or other harmful drugs and today holds the record for the largest number of actual cures of female diseases of any medicine the world has ever known, and thousands of voluntary testimonials are on file in the laboratory at Lynn, Mass., which testify to its wonderful value.

Mrs. C. E. Fink, of Carnegie, Pa., writes:—Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—"I wish every suffering woman would take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and write to you for advice. It has done me a world of good and what it has accomplished for me I know it will do for others."

When women are troubled with Irregularities, Displacements, Ulceration, Inflammation, Backache, Nervous Prostration, they should remember there is one tried and true remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Mrs. Pinkham's Standing Invitation to Women

Women suffering from any form of female weakness are invited to write Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. Out of her vast volume of experience she probably has the very knowledge that will help your case.

THE HAYWOOD CASE.

Defense Completes Foundation for Impeaching State's Witness.

Boise, Idaho, June 27.—The first direct testimony in defense of William D. Haywood was offered Tuesday, and it was chiefly directed towards showing that Harry Orchard, blaming Frank Steunenberg for the loss of his interest in the Hercules, had threatened to have revenge by killing him, and that the conduct of Orchard and K. C. Sterling, both before the Independence explosion, when they were frequently seen together, and afterward when Sterling called off a bloodhound that was following Orchard's trail, justified the inference that the mine owners inspired the crime.

Several witnesses, principally women, who kept lodging houses at Cripple Creek located Orchard at various conferences with Sterling, the detective for the Mine Owners' association, and D. C. Scott, the detective for the Florence and Cripple Creek railway, prior to the Independence explosion. Another witness told of the effort to locate the men guilty of the Independence outrage by starting a bloodhound from the chair rung used in pulling off the mine explosion. He said the dog took the road to Colorado Springs, the one over which Orchard fled in the night, and that when he reported to Sterling, he got orders to call the dog off. Sterling said he knew who blew up the station, and later said that Steve Adams had done so.

The state fought the admission of the bloodhound story and also opposed the admission of evidence covering general features of the Colorado labor law, but in both instances, the court ruled with the defense.

HARVARD COMMENCEMENT.

Famous Old University Has Closed Its 271st Year.

Cambridge, Mass., June 27.—America's oldest educational institution, Harvard university, Wednesday closed its 271st year, graduating a class of 550. Features of the day were the meeting of the board of overseers to graduates of three years' standing; the arrival of the governor; the gathering at old Massachusetts Hall, of the president, fellows, overseers, faculties, invited guests, the march to the time-honored Sanders theater for the exercises, the assembly of the distinguished company, and finally the meeting of the alumni association.

Harvard was honored Wednesday by the presence of Secretary of State Elihu Root, James Bryce, Great Britain's ambassador to America, and the Duke of Abruzzi, on whom honorary degrees were conferred.

The theater was completely filled when the president entered at the head of the long line of black-gowned men, and as soon as the company were seated the formal presentation of commencement parts began.

The delivery of the undergraduate, divinity school and law school orations occupied nearly an hour, and this was followed by the award of degrees by President Eliot.

SHORT TALKS BY L. T. COOPER.

BACKACHE.

I can sympathize with a sufferer from this awful symptom of weak kidneys. That soreness and pain in the small of the back tells too plainly of serious trouble behind it. It's not a hot water bottle or a plaster you need. That won't cure diseased kidneys. It may relieve you for a time it's true but why mask the real cause and allow the trouble to grow? Don't do it. Weak kidneys can be cured but Bright's disease, which always follows neglect of them cannot. Go and get a bottle of Cooper's New Discovery and Cooper's Quick Relief and use them faithfully. Your backache will disappear because your kidney trouble is corrected---not for a day but for good. When your kidneys are in "ship-shape" there will be nothing more to cause it.

Here's a letter from a man who suffered for years in this way and took my advice:

"I have been in such bad health for some years that I finally had to give up work. I suffered from kidney trouble. My back was so sore and lame that I could scarcely get up and down. My stomach was also out of order and my nervous system broken down. I have been using the Cooper medicines for one week and actually feel like a new man. My food digests perfectly. The soreness and pain has entirely gone from my back and my kidneys are in fine shape. The medicine has strengthened me wonderfully and I cheerfully give you this testimonial for publication." Mr. P. Leonard, 49 School St., Allegheny, Pa.

We have heard a number of favorable comments on the Cooper preparations from people who have purchased them from us.

Norfolk, Va., June 27.—One whole block of the Pine Beach section, immediately adjoining the Jamestown exposition general grounds, was swept by fire early Wednesday, the area burned being between the exposition grounds on the west, extending to the Pine Beach hotel, and from the car track running from the exposition grounds west to the original Pine Beach pier to the water on the north.

The loss may run up to $300,000, partly insured.

President Asked to Investigate.

Oyster Bay, June 27.—The telegram asking President Roosevelt to investigate an alleged violation of the anti-trust law by the telegraph companies received Tuesday from the labor union, was transmitted to Herbert Knox Smith, chief of the bureau of corporations of the department of commerce and labor. No instructions were given. Although the statement was made that the American Federation of Labor had sent out a general order to local unions to send similar telegrams to the president, only one has been received.

Baseball Players and Foot Racers.

Louis J. Kruger, ex-champion long distance foot racer of Germany and Holland, writes, Oct. 27, 1901: "During my training of eight weeks' foot races at Salt Lake City, in April last, I used Ballard's Snow Liniment to my greatest satisfaction. Therefore, I highly recommend Snow Liniment to all who are troubled with sprains, bruises or rheumatism." 25c, 50c and $1.00. Sold by W. M. Johnson.

He Had Had Some Help.

The man who applied at headquarters for a "little help" from the charitable association set forth his case with so much tact and moderation that the secretary was beginning to be favorably impressed.

"I can't ask them to do too much," the applicant said modestly. "You see," he continued, in an outburst of delicacy and ingenuousness, "they paid for my wedding last month, and 'twas a real swell one."—Youth's Companion.

Ancient Rome

Is now merely a memory of the past. Ballard's Snow Liniment is the family liniment of the twentieth century. A positive cure for Rheumatism, Burns, Cuts, Sprains, Neuralgia, etc. Mr. C. H. Runyon, Stanberry, Mo., writes: "I have used Snow Liniment for Rheumatism and all pain. I can't say enough in its praise." Sold by W. M. Johnson.

GOLD THIMBLES.

Process by Which These Dainty Finger Caps Are Fashioned.

The gold from which thimbles are made is bought at a United States subtreasury in the shape of snug little ingots brick shaped and two and a half inches long and one and a quarter inches thick. Each one contains of pure gold twenty-four karats fine metal of the value of $600.

Gold of this fineness would be much too soft for thimbles, and it is alloyed down to fourteen karats, in which condition it is rolled into sheets of suitable thickness. In the first process of manufacture a sheet of this gold is run into a machine, which cuts out of it a disk in size sufficient to form a thimble, the same machine stamping this disk also into the form of a straight sided capsule with irregular edges.

Then the thimble blank goes into another machine, in which the die stamps it into its conical shape. Out of this machine it goes into an annealing furnace for tempering and from that into an acid bath for cleaning and the removal of the fire coating.

Then the thimble is put into a lathe to be turned down to its final shape and dimensions.

With repeated applications of the tool the operator brings the crown of the thimble into its perfect form and cuts down along the thimble's sides to bring the walls of the thimble to the requisite thickness, defines and finishes the smooth band that runs around the lower part of the thimble and brings into relief the rounded rim that encircles the thimble at its opening at once to give it a finishing ornamental grace there and to stiffen it. The glistening little gold shavings that he cuts off in these various operations all fall into a canvas trough.

It lacks yet the familiar indentations in its surface that serve to support the needle and to hold it in place. These the thimble maker now proceeds to make. It is done with a tool called a knurle. There are an end knurle and a side knurle. An end knurle is simply a handle having set in it a tiny thin revolving wheel of steel upon whose periphery is a continuous encircling row of little bosses or knobs corresponding in size to the little indentations to be made. The side knurle has in place of such a wheel a little steel cylinder of a length sufficient to cover that section of the thimble that is to be indented on its sides, this cylinder having knobs all over its surface as the end knurle wheel has around its edges and turning, like the wheel, on its axis.

The thimble in the lathe is turning at 2,500 revolutions a minute, and it seems as if the application to its surface of any sort of tool with protuberances on it must leave there only a jangled and mixed up lot of irregular marks. But now, with the end knurle the thimble maker makes an indentation in the center of the top of the thimble and then proceeds rapidly and with perfect certainty with the end knurle to describe around that center concentric rings of indentations, with the indentations all perfectly spaced from the center of the circumference of the top.

You may see him do this, but you can't tell how he is able to do it. And then with the side knurle he makes the indentations in the side of the thimble, making them as well as he deftly presses the tool against it, indentations that run absolutely uniform and true and that end at their lower edge in a perfectly true encircling line.—Chicago Chronicle.

CAPUDINE CURES COLDS AND GRIPPE It removes the cause, soothes the nerves and relieves the aches and Feverishness. It cures all headaches and Neuralgia also. No bad effects. 10c, 25c and 50c bottles. (LIQUID.)

There are a good many "cornfield lawyers," and some who would scorn such a designation, giving opinions on constitutional questions that indicate they do not understand the constitution when they read it. Others like Secretary Root make the sinister proposition that the constitution must be construed to mean what the Republicans require to carry out their policies.

The Pensacola Humane Society was most successfully launched Sunday afternoon. There was a large gathering of ladies and gentlemen. Officers were elected and committees appointed. Children and beasts will hereafter have from and through the society a degree of protection not heretofore given them, and it is anticipated that much good work will be accomplished.

Editor Avery G. Powell is making of The Lake Butler Star a paper of which the citizens of that town and Bradford county should appreciate. Mr. Powell has a catchy style of his own which has won for him popularity among his brothers of the press. The best evidence that The Star is prospering is the fact that a new power cylinder press will soon be installed.

The man who accuses the town of Atlanta, Ga., of being non-energetic doesn't know what he is talking about. Atlanta never misses an opportunity to get its name in print, even if she has to air the fact that some of her dairymen are making bum butter. The United States is after a butter maker there now, the products of his dairy not having come up to the requirements of the pure food law.

Another railroad is proposed for Pensacola which, if they all materialize, will give to the city four additional railroads. The latest is the Pensacola, Alabama & Georgia, which is being backed by Pensacola citizens, but which, it is stated, has other interests represented. The road is to extend from Pensacola in a northeasterly direction, and there connect with the Central of Georgia, thus not only opening up a new territory, but giving Pensacola connection with the Central of Georgia. Application for a charter will be made at an early date, the company having a capital stock of $10,000. Numerous prominent citizens of that city are stockholders in the proposed road.

It is to be deplored that such matters as were brought before the county court in this city Thursday could not be amicably adjusted without resort to a court of common law. We have reference to the case wherein the principal of the Bronson school was prosecuted for the chastising of a pupil of his school. While The Sun does not attempt to comment on the case either one way or the other, it does assert that such actions have a tendency to encourage those pupils who are disposed to be unruly, depriving the school master of that prestige and authority which he must necessarily have, in order to make a success. If these unpleasantries could be amicably adjusted between patron and teacher without airing them in the courts, it would be far better for all concerned.

BONAPARTE'S SURPRISE.

On June 2 Mr. Bonaparte, head of the Department of Justice, under the prodding of incisive articles in The New York World and other newspapers that he was slow and behind the times as a trust buster, said:

"In some cases where continuous violations of the law involve a large number of illegal acts, each one of them criminal, the total fines which can be imposed have proved a sufficient deterrent. But in other cases it is the opinion of most prosecuting officers that the law can be much more clearly and effectively enforced through the imprisonment of individual defendants."

That indicated that the Attorney-General intended to try his hand at putting some of the "bad" trust and corporation magnates, including such an undesirable citizen as Mr. Harriman, "behind the bars" if he could convince a jury he was as black as painted by President Roosevelt and others.

But on June 8 President Roosevelt, the cabinet concurring, took the wind out of the Attorney-General's sails by deciding that Mr. Harriman, although branded as a law-breaker and a most undesirable citizen, could not be proceeded against criminally. This decision of all the principal leaders of the Republican party was evidently a tub thrown to the Wall Street whale where the stock market was disorganized and needed a tonic to prevent disaster.

The trouble with Attorney-General Bonaparte was—he is now undeceived—that he, like others, had taken President Roosevelt seriously as ready to go to the extremes to curb the trust magnates and control the railroad managers. He had evidently overlooked the fact that President Roosevelt in his correspondence with Mr. Harriman had declared that "you and I are practical men," while Bonaparte evidently thought the President was an iconoclast and ready to smash things right and left. Practical politicians don't work that way—at heart they are as much mollycoddles as the veriest mollycoddle of them all.

That sterling Democrat, J. Ham Lewis, endorses the proposition that comes from Georgia to nominate Governor Hoke Smith as the Democratic candidate for President, if it is considered desirable to select a Southern man. What is needed, however, is not a Southern man, or a Northern man, because he is from either section of the country, but one who will be satisfactory to both sections and can so unite the Democracy that he can carry those States that are necessary to win the election. There can be no valid objection to each State proposing a favorite son, but the candidate selected will have to stand the test of availability when the delegates to the national convention assemble, so that the party can enter on the campaign with a fair prospect of success.

The playful paragraphers who are teasing Marse Henry about his dark horse candidate should remember that the entries for the race do not close until next year and there is ample time for the illustrious Democrat to name his candidate for presidential honors. It is to be hoped that Mr. Watterson will have his candidate well trained and fit to run for his life, for the supremacy of the party depends upon no mistake being made when the trial heats have been run and the real candidate of the Democracy is selected for the final heat.

The Republican warfare in Ohio will from now on take a more lurid hue, for Foraker has gone home to ring in a general fire alarm.

National convention proceedings of the Democratic party from 1789-1906 have been compiled by Wr. Edwin Sefton, secretary of the committee on organization and campaign of the Democratic National Committee. This official history of the acts of the Democracy from the foundation of the Government has been endorsed by all the leaders of the party and will be of the greatest value to all political students and especially every Democrat who desires to know the history of his party and to tell authentically why he is a Democrat. These proceedings will consist of 8 octavo volumes and the publishers, the Union Press, New York, assure us will be a superb set of books as far as type, paper and binding are concerned. The volumes are embellished with authentic and interesting pictures and portraits of the highest grade and can be secured at a very reasonable price by addressing Edwin Sefton, 68 William street, New York City.

In Germany, the leading protectionist country of Europe, and one which has recently increased the duties on its imports, there is increasing distress arising from low wages and high prices for the necessaries of life. Consul Hannah of Magdeburg reports an enormous increase in the cost of living for 1906 over 1905. He also reports that in certain industries the highest possible earnings of laborers is 8 cents an hour and the average only 4 cents, American money. The Consul at Zittau tells a similar story. These reports show that tariff taxes do not improve the condition of working men. The high wages paid in this country in the building, and railroad, and mining industries, which are not protected, prove that it is not a protective tariff, but the organizations of laboring men, that makes wages high in spite of enormous immigration and difficulty in procuring certain raw materials, owing to prohibitive duties.

HOW BONNER WON SUCCESS

The career of Robert Bonner, the veteran publisher, furnishes a signal illustration of the value of persistent and sagacious advertising. When he began the publication of the paper whose phenomenal success brought him fame and fortune, he did not wait for the people to find out, slowly and gradually, the interesting features of his journal.

He forced his enterprise upon public attention by a systematic lavishness of expenditure for advertising which at that time was without precedent or parallel. Whole pages of daily newspapers were secured at high prices to blazon forth the merits of his undertaking.

From one end of the country to the other the names of Bonner and his Ledger were made familiar to the people by constant repetition.

Conservative publishers, jogging along in the ruts of old routine, prophesied bankruptcy and ruin for this unconventional innovator, but Bonner kept on spending a large share of his receipts in buying publicity, and those receipts increased with startling rapidity.

Every dollar disbursed in this way brought in more dollars until croakers were confounded and pessimists in this particular branch of business silenced by his tremendous success.

The lesson is one that is as well worth heeding today as it was forty years ago.—Philadelphia Bulletin.

ICKS OF THE MILLINERS.

Ruse That Was Met by a Clever ounter Ruse—The Agitating Ex- riences of an American Woman ho Was Looking For Bargains.

American shops the establishment the customer are separate entities. firm displays its wares; the buyers mine them and purchase or not, as see fit.

London it is different. The mo- nt you enter the door of a shop you accepted as part and parcel of its erests, a member of the family, as were. Then a shopwalker pounces n you and insists on knowing what want. If you hesitate as to your y, he plants himself squarely in nt of you and waits. When, in er desperation (for you had intend- a happy, aimless sort of looking out), you say "gloves," he grasps r arm, firmly marches you to the ve counter, seats you at it and de- s a salesperson to wait upon you.

ll this happened to me, and in an sperated frame of mind I bought a r of gloves merely to keep peace in family, but the bland and gentle- nly glove seller had no notion of let- g me off so easily. He took it for nted that that first pair was simply way of preface, and he displayed ves of my size of all styles and col- . The very foregoneness of his con- sion that I would buy them all irri- ed me, and, briefly announcing that wanted no more gloves, I paid him the pair I had bought. Surprised d grieved beyond expression, he koned the shopwalker, and together y cross examined me as to why I used to buy more gloves. Did the ors not suit me? Were the prices t reasonable? Disdaining to answer se questions, I endeavored to stalk ghtily away, but this was not al- ed. More in sorrow than in anger, y told me I must wait for my bill. the gloves were to be sent and I d given the exact change I deemed s unnecessary, but I soon found it be one of their inexorable laws. lls, signed and countersigned, must waited for, no matter how trifling purchase.

The next thing I learned was that e price asked is far from being the l selling price of the article. I nged at the thought of offering 5 ineas for a seven guinea hat, but I on learned that it was expected of customer and that the marked prices re merely amounts from which to gin the dickering.

And the ruses resorted to by these icked milliners! In Mayfair is one the most fashionable millinery shops the world. Over the door gilt let- rs spell one of the most famous risian names. To this shop I went r a hat. Being very canny, I ex- essed great interest in several hats hich I knew I should not buy. At st I carelessly inquired the price of hat which had really charmed me om the first. The price was 8 guineas. s it bore four magnificent ostrich umes, this price was not exorbitant; t, knowing the game, I bargained.

First I asked if they would call it unds instead of guineas. This meant reduction in price of only 8 shillings. t the indignity (I discovered) was yond all words. With a scathing ance the saleslady informed me that y never sold by pounds in that shop, d I stored away the knowledge for ture use in swagger establishments.

Determined to beat them at their n game, I then offered 6 guineas r the hat. This was met with ap- opriate expressions of horrified sur- ise, and as a great concession 7½ ineas was proposed. I remained m in my six guinea offer, and, after feint of leaving the shop without ying a hat, it was reluctantly ac- pted.

Then followed what I considered a se of extreme cleverness on my part. had been told that if I left a new hat be sent home the milliner would ange the trimming for others that oked the same, but were of inferior ality. I had been advised, therefore, purchasing a hat to carry it away ith me in order to prevent this. So remarked on paying for this hat that I wished to wear it that very after- on I would take it with me, the rge bandbox being easily managed in y hansom cab. The saleslady kindly reed to this plan and sent the hat pstairs to be boxed.

After waiting fifteen minutes for the t to return to me I began to grow spicious, and when it did come I liberately untied the box, removed e tissue paper wrappings and ex- ined the hat. Sure enough, the four e rich ostrich plumes had been re- oved and replaced by four others of e same color, but of a distinctly eaper grade. I boldly declared this act, but the saleslady haughtily de- ied it.

"Bet," said I, "look in the hat. See e stitches, hastily put in to hold these feathers. They were not there when the hat left me."

"Ah," she said, "merely a few stitches to fasten a bit of trimming that was loose!"

And nothing remained for me but to take the hat and depart. I could not prove my case. I could get no redress. But I learned, when buying a hat, to pin it firmly on my head and walk away, leaving my own old hat to be sent home.

I think such an episode would not occur in any reputable shop in America. —Carolyn Wells in Woman's Home Companion.

TIPPED AS HE WENT.

His Promise to Pay a Lump Sum Weekly Did Not Bring Results.

"I had heard all about the tipping system in Europe before going abroad," said the young man just returned from his maiden voyage, "so I thought I'd inaugurate a new system. At a fashionable hotel in London the valet assigned to my floor was the subject of my first experiment.

"'See here,' I said in a frank, jovial manner when he came in to attend me, 'I want to make an arrangement with you. It's an infernal nuisance to be handing out tips every few minutes, or, at least, when I want anything done. Now, I purpose to lump the whole thing in weekly payments. I expect to be here at least three weeks. You look after me to the best of your ability, and at the end of each week I'll make it all right with you—in fact, I'll give you more in a lump sum than you would get in tips. Is that satisfactory?'

"'Quite, sir,' he said cheerfully, but I fancied he looked disappointed.

"'Very well,' said I. 'I'm going out for a drive about town. Meanwhile take my evening clothes out of my trunk, have them pressed and laid out for me. You'll find studs and buttons for the shirt in that box on the dresser. My shoes are in that valise.'

"'H'all right, sir. Very good, sir. Thankee kindly,' said he, and I left with a feeling of elation.

"When I got back to the hotel I found my evening clothes still in the trunk, the shirt and shoes untouched and, in short, 'nothing doing.' Next day I went back to the old system."—New York Press.

PIE BIRDS OF BRITTANY.

They Must Be Pretty Strong, According to This Breton Story.

"Speaking of exaggerations," said a traveler, "reminds me of the pie bird story of the Breton farmer.

"There was a farmer in Brittany who wished to tell a visitor how his farm had been overrun with pies. Pies, you know, are large birds, black and white, with long tails—a kind of crow. The farmer said the pies devastated his fields horribly. If he put up scarecrows, the birds tore them down. One day his young son ran into the granite farmhouse and shouted:

"'Oh, father, hundreds and hundreds of birds! The wheat is being all eaten up!'

"The farmer loaded his gun. But where was the shot? It couldn't be found. He put in a few handfuls of tacks instead. Then he ran out. The wheatfield was black and white, like a checkerboard, with pies. The farmer gave a loud yell, and the birds all flew up into a tall poplar. He fired, and, lo, every bird was nailed fast to the tree. They were nailed fast. Their flapping wings filled the air with a loud whir. The farmer, amazed, stood watching them. Then a strange thing happened. The birds, with one grand united effort, pulled up the huge tree and flew away with it."

What Women Wear In Iceland.

The usual dress of the women of Iceland, irrespective of wealth or station, consists of a long garment of wadmol, hanging from the shoulders to the heels and fastened with a bright clasp at the neck. Over this two or three blue or white petticoats are worn, while a blue cap, hanging down on one side of the head, completes the costume. On Sundays and festivals the dresses are both peculiar and striking in appearance. There is a bodice, ornamented with gilt buttons and red and black velvet. Over this is a tight fitting velvet jacket, or "treja," beneath two or three bright petticoats, blue or red worsted stockings and shoes of seal or shark skin. The whole is surmounted by a remarkable headdress, very beautiful in effect. The "faldur," as it is called, is made of stiffly starched white linen, kept in place by innumerable pins and measuring often so much as two feet in height.—Scottish Nights.

There Are Few

People who know how to take care of themselves—the majority do not. The liver is a most important organ in the body. V. C. Simpkins, Alba, Texas, writes: "I have used Herbine for Chills and Fever and find it the best medicine I ever used. I would not be without it. It is as good for children as it is for grown-up people, and I recommend it. It is fine for La Grippe." Sold by W. M. Johnson.
